The Ed.D. in Educational Leadership program at UNE focuses on Transformative Leadership, and will prepare you to transform organizations, communities and yourself through focused, flexible study. You will become powerfully positioned to build allies with others striving for common outcomes as well as collaborate with individuals with divergent values and perspectives.

This program is an excellent match for individuals working in a variety of fields including:

- Education
- Healthcare
- Nonprofit Organizations
- Non-governmental Organizations
- Private Organizations
- Public Agencies

TRANSFORM ORGANIZATIONS

Draw from the tenets of organization development theory, critical social theory, and adult development to analyze and influence the culture of your organization.

TRANSFORM COMMUNITIES

Refine your leadership stance to interact more fully with the communities you serve. Imagine the organization in which you work as an organic system that can respond to the needs of the community.

TRANSFORM SELF

Engage in leadership reflection activities to identify your strengths, pinpoint areas for growth, and align your individual development goals.

Doctor of Education (Ed.D.) in Educational Leadership Online

UNE’s Ed.D. in Education Leadership is a cohort program with three cohorts per year: Spring A term, Summer A term, and Fall A term. It is a three-year program, including dissertation, and is completed entirely online with no residency requirement. Your dissertation is also presented online.

CURRICULUM STRUCTURE

The program is designed to support your development as a transformative leader through formal study of your organization, participatory research processes, and collaborative decision-making. Professionals engage in:

- Instruction that includes online lectures, instructor-led discussions and assessments, small group interactions, and limited, flexible synchronous sessions
- Preparation outside of class that includes readings, project development and applied research
- Completion of a culminating dissertation that employs your professional knowledge and new learning and demonstrates transformative leadership, organization, and community change
